Book Kaza for a media appearance!

Bestselling Author Kaza Kingsley's new book, The Monsters of Otherness, is now out across the country. Book One, The Dragon's Eye won multiple awards, was selected as one of Borders Original Voices books in December, '07, and has many outstanding reviews. Erec Rex has been gathering more and more fans, and has outsold all predictions. Several movie producers are looking at it now as well. It's success continues to grow as Kaza visits schools and media venues around the country.

Funny and lively, Kaza enjoys interviews of all kinds. She has a comic bent, and is at her best with quick repartee. Please enjoy some of Kaza's television interviews now on YouTube!

Questions for Kaza

- Your first book was constantly being compared to Harry Potter. Is it still popping up in all your reviews? Do you love or hate that?
- Why fantasy? What drew you to fantasy? (Kaza has a funny story about a wacky writer's mind and jumping off a roof)
- Your books have a mystery theme going through them. Can you reveal something just for our listeners on this show?
- You talk about the Author's Schizophrenia. What is your life like now? (Kaza talks about the strangeness of switching back and forth from the solitary life of a writer and the uber-social life of a traveling author.)
- Who has inspired you in your writing?
- How do you handle annoying fans? (Kaza talks about how her fans are fine - it's everyone else she has trouble with.)
- What do you like best about writing for kids? Are your adult readers different?
- Is it hard to come up with plots ... What gave you the idea ... How many books ...
